Dear Janette:

In the face of a furious anti-union campaign, Delta Flight Attendants are making history and inspiring Flight Attendants across the industry in the historic vote to secure a strong voice at the new Delta Airlines. It's clear from the incessant anti-worker campaign being waged, that the future success of the Flight Attendant profession at Delta Airlines is at stake. That in and of itself is a clear and compelling reason for all to vote for AFA.

The fate of our Contracts, seniority and job security should never hinge on corporate decisions that are outside our control. That's why we have the protections of a Union and a Contract – and that's why we stand with you to help rebuild our proud profession. So even as we are confronted with our challenges associated with the merger between United and Continental, we write today in support of the efforts of the Flight Attendants at Delta to secure a voice in your workplace.

Like Northwest and Delta Flight Attendants, United and Continental Flight Attendants are confronted with a corporate transaction that boasts the creation of the world's largest airline. Inherent in that corporate strategy is the need for our Flight Attendant community to have a seat at the table to address the multitude of issues and concerns that arise in the workplace. The way to do just that is to exercise our democratic rights and vote in the representation election for AFA.

Recognizing that our community is the largest Flight Attendant Union in the world and our mission over the past 60 years has been to unite Flight Attendants to build our power at the bargaining table, on Capitol Hill, and to have a voice in our work place we stand with you in Solidarity and Flight Attendants across the industry.

Standing shoulder to shoulder, will lead us to our future success.

In Solidarity,

Greg Davidowitch, President
United Master Executive Council
